Zag Entertainment's Ladybug crossover with Moon Goddess aka Deanna Jaxine Stinson. Moon Goddess harvests the power of the moon and can shoot out moon beams from her eyes that can stun you. She is semi-indestructable. She is able to fly and levitate. She is friends with Ladybug, they met on top of the Eiffel Tower in Paris, France. Drawing below was done by Richard Vasseur:

Debbie Talani says:

Sometimes with stories, you have to tell the past in order for the present to make sense. This is such a case. The date is January 1981. The Central Valley thick fog formed that evening casting an eerily quiet feeling over the valley. A car with three people is driving down Peltier Road near Lodi, California. One of them is being strangled with a belt by the person sitting behind them. The person sitting in the back is Michael Morales. Morales was armed not only with a belt, but a claw hammer and a 7 inch kitchen knife. The driver, Ricky Ortega, is the jealous lover of the victim. His cousin is Morales. Ortega, in his rage and jealousy against the victim, asked his cousin Morales to get rid of the victim. Morales was eager to comply.

Morales thought of ways to kill the victim and practiced cinching a belt around a female roommate's neck, waiting for Ortega to inform him when the hit would take place. The call finally came. Ortega called the victim for help and said he would pick them up later that evening. Once the victim was in the car, Morales was in the back seat armed with his weapons and ready. He was also stoned and agitated from finishing off some cheap liquor and smoking a cigarette laced with PCP.

Ortega drove the car down Peltier Road and when they were a few miles out of town, Morales suddenly wrapped the belt around the victim's neck, cinching it tight. The victim fought back with such force, the belt broke. This only further agitated Morales, causing him to grab the claw hammer and began bashing the victim's head.

The victim pleaded with Ortega to help but he did nothing but drive. The victim attempted to fight off the attack as Morales instructed Ortega to keep driving while he continued to bash in the victim's head. Morales bashed the victim's head 23 times, crushing the base of her neck. The victim's arms and hands were bloodied as she tried to defend herself.

Ortega pulled over at the intersection of Bender and Peltier Roads with an unconscious victim who was slumped against the passenger door. Morales hopped out of the car and stated it would be a waste of a good piece of axx. He dragged the unconscious victim out of the car and instructed Ortega to drive away and come back in 15 minutes. Morales dragged the victim face down across the road into a vineyard. There, with the Valley thick fog obstructing view, Morales stripped the victim's body except for the bra and sweater. He flipped the victim over, pushed the bra and sweater up to her neck and raped her in the cold, damp dirt.

When Morales was finished raping the unconscious victim, he took the 7 inch kitchen knife and plunged it 4 times in the victim's chest, killing her.

Now, fast forward to February 2006; Morales is sitting on San Quentin's Death Row, scheduled to be executed Tuesday, February 21, 2006 at 12:01 am. Ortega was also caught and sentenced, and received life without parole. The victim's family has signed up to witness the execution, but the victim's mother has changed her mind. Instead, she has written a poem.

Fast forward again to almost exactly 2 years later to February 16, 2008; I'm on my way to my friend Shauna Kinchen's house who is also a ghost hunter. We made plans to have dinner then head out to Peltier Road Bridge. I had been told that it is haunted. The story goes that two brothers long ago, lived across the street from one another. Their relationship soon soured turning into a legendary Hatfield and McCoy feud. One of the brothers killed the other, and dragged his brother's body to Peltier Road Bridge burying him. Soon, he too passed away and it is said that an apparition of an old man, carrying a shovel and a lantern is spotted alongside the bridge. I was intrigued; I wanted to find out as much information as I could on this bridge. Come to find out, my research resulted in the Morales story rather than the brother's feud.

After dinner, Shauna and I head to Peltier Road off of Highway 99. It is almost 9:30 pm and quiet dark. We are armed with flash lights, audio recorders, a digital camera and an IR video camera. We easily found the intersection of Bender and Peltier Roads and armed with the knowledge of Morales dragging the victim into a vineyard, we thought we could find the area the crime took place easily. How wrong we were. There are vineyards on all four corners. Some looked very, very old, other vineyards looked quiet new. We focused on the older looking ones staying in that area mostly, being as the crime took place 27 years ago.

As we conducted EVP work, we heard a coyote, which sparked more coyotes to cry out. It was eerie standing on the side of a road in the dark, hearing nothing but the cries of coyotes. The moon was almost full, so we didn't need our flash lights to see. The light cast by the moon gave dimension to the trees off on the southwest corner of the intersection, as well as the old and new vineyards.

I took digital pictures and filmed with my Sony IR video camera. Toward the end of our investigation, I pulled out the poem the victim's mother had written and read it out loud. Shauna then crumpled it up and threw it into the vineyard we felt the crime had taken place. Shauna told the victim that it was hers to do with how she saw fit. It was the least we could do after knowing how the victim lost her young life.

Both Shauna and I then turned on our flashlights and ended up disturbing a very agitated bird. We could hear it, but could not see it. We knew it was circling us due to the high pitched calls it was making as it was circling us. We decided to continue our investigation by heading to the bridge.

The bridge is about 500 yards from the Bender and Peltier Road intersection, but there wasn't any place to park or for that matter, to walk. There are no sidewalks on the bridge, only a thin curb. We would have ended up getting hit since cars were traveling down Peltier Road at a very fast speed. Shauna and I would have ended up being ghosts ourselves! We both decided it wasn't safe to investigate the bridge at that time. Like Jason Hawes of TAPS says when in doubt, get the hell out,² which is exactly what we did.

Although we were disappointed we couldn't investigate the bridge, we were excited about going over our audio and video to see if we had captured anything. Shauna reported back saying she didn't capture any EVPs (electronic voice phenomena). On one of the pictures I took of Shauna next to a tree we were drawn to, there is a red light going horizontally over her head. I watched the video and determined that it was the tail light of a car passing by. I did capture one EVP at the very beginning of our investigation. I had just finished mentioning to Shauna that it was eerily quiet when a whisper is heard. I can't make it out, but it is there, as well as on the audio of the video recorder. Was it the victim? Was it Morales? I don't know. Its possible.

Back in 1981 when Morales killed his victim, I was just a mere teenager who listened to Rick Springfield's Jessie's Girl, REO Speedwagon's Keep on Loving You and watching Dallas on CBS. I was just starting my high school career and didn't know anything about Morales, Ortega or their victim, despite the crime happening in my area. I now know the victim's young life was halted unnecessarily and her family's lives would be forever changed.

As I drive home after dropping Shauna off, I remind myself that life comes full circle. In order to understand the present, you must visit the past. I thank the Universe and Fates for what I experienced this evening and I eagerly wait for the next opportunity to investigate. Until then Stay Scared.

PARANORMAL INVESTIGATION:

Date to be there: 4/24/2021 Saturday. Time to be there: 6pm. Address to be at: Loomis, CA. Contact Person: Deborah Coleman - Baughman.

WHAT THE CLIENT SAYS IS HAPPENING (IN HER OWN WORDS):

Let me just give you some tidbits of what's been going on some things that have been happening and let's just say a really interesting s. The barn we've had construction on began with this property for close to two years now, plus not to mention the the abandoned property next to ours someone bought it and has been cleaning it up for the past 4 years and all I got to say is holy s the Indians have been gone for four years, but just as about 6 months ago it started back up again, it starts at 3 in the morning. You can hear banging on the house and noises that sound like whooping and hollering I don't think its evil or trying to hurt me, but I believe he's trying to warn me about something. Special Note: Deborah's home is built on Indian burial ground. I believe my property is cursed. I am 100% sure my property is completely cursed. We still have the little girl ghost around, she's desperate to find her grave and we have attempted to locate the grave. We had different psychics come out and we had one psychic come out and attempted to locate the grave, but ran into some resistance. The little girl ghost has responded well to my daughter. Let's go to the barn so the people that used to own this place the ones who built it the wife recently passed away in a horrific accident in Kansas one week after she died or within a week that she had died her wedding photo portrait wound up on my dining room table I had never seen, it was not in my house it was not in my barn, but it showed up on my dining room table. I don't know how that happened but it did we put it away and it showed up again, I knew the owners that built our house very well and the woman, the wife she was a friend of mine and I loved her very dearly and to find her wedding portrait really put me in tears she was a very nice lady and she didn't deserve what she got. We still have lanterns in the middle of the night walking around the property, all go out there to investigate and there's no one there. As for my the abandoned property my neighbors he has s just weird s cuz ever since he's been trying to fix it up to sell it which he ended up selling it been, there has been very weird stuff going on over there again items just showing up that weren't there before no one has ever seen anything like it and it showing up I mean there's nothing really malicious just some here and there. However I have pictures. I get pictures of a pink apparition. The pictures are everywhere, we shouldn't be getting pictures of a pink apparition, but the pink apparition is seen in photos all around my property. It's not my camera is not the light it is absolutely some woman in pink, I can send you those pictures if you like. It's just like "wow"..... we have animals, we have all kinds of cleansings that we have done. We used sage, Palo Santo wood, we cleansed the barn, we smudged the black trailer on our property and nothing works. Sometimes we're burning sage or Palo Santo wood and we walk away for a second and it's gone, not burnt just gone and another part of the barn and it's just really weird we've had our butts grabbed we've had someone push us, slap us in the barn, cuz I turned it into my workshop and let's just say damn black shadows every where. Of course orbs are seen everywhere too. We get pink orbs the size of a person in our photos, it looks like a dancing ballerina in purple all over my property doesn't matter where we are we'll take a picture and you'll see it so I'll send some pictures but yes this is escalated cuz they're there were building on the property and ever since then it's just been going nuts I think you would benefit in coming out here to just do a small investigation just to get a Baseline you won't be disappointed trust me you really will find all kinds of evidence. It's crazy with activity. Sometimes when I am in bed, I hear full on disembodied conversations. I place things in the barn and the next day the things I placed in the barn are moved outside.

THE DREAMS

Before we even arrived at this house, all week long, strange things have been happening with me and Deanna. Deanna had 3 dreams about the investigation and everything lead her into Hell and facing the devil. These nightmares were so bad, that she woke up from the nightmares and couldn't get back to sleep. Deanna would also see a very large male shadow standing over the bed, after she awoke from her nightmares. Then on Friday, 4/23/2021 the night before the investigation I had a strange vivid dream about the investigation. In the dream, I was unable to talk to my investigators to give them instructions. Then at some point of time, I had to go into the house and fall asleep. When I awoke my investigators were already investigating and told me not to worry about giving them instructions, they know what to do. I then got my voice back and said..."let's all do a group shot". Everyone got together for the group shot and then I realized my camera did not have a SIM card for the camera. I told the group, I would go inside and get one, when I came back out, everyone was already investigating and no one wanted to do a group shot and I was basically shunned for not being a good lead investigator for the group.

HPI PARANORMAL INVESTIGATORS (ROLL CALL)

Paul Dale Roberts - HPI Co-Owner; Deanna Jaxine Stinson - HPI Co-Owner - Psychic Medium; Matt n' Michelle Mesa; Shawna Young & Robert; Robin, Patricia and others.

THE INVESTIGATION:

On the start of the investigation, Michelle felt nauseated. Michelle has psychic abilities and may have felt the effects of the paranormal atmosphere of the barn. Deanna picked up on a ghostly yellow lab and Deborah confirmed that they once did have a golden lab and that lab is now deceased. Shawna felt a presence on the 2nd floor of the barn and we were able to get an EVP of a man talking. Deanna picked up on a little Maidu Indian boy near the rocks that were used as grinding stones for acorns. We obtained a clear EVP that sounded like it said Ishu Ashu. Heather Colburn who was on the live feed that Deanna was sending out, feels it was some sort of greeting, possibly in the Maidu language. I googled the words and found Ishu, but it wasn't Maidu Indian, it was Hinduism and it means: angel sweet lovely beautiful. Deanna picked up on the Lady in Pink near a pink flower on a tree and we actually did obtain an EVP of a woman talking. This possibly could be the Lady in Pink. There is definitely a lot of animal spirits on the property. The psychics on the team were picking up on animal spirits and spirits of people. I felt a burning sensation on my leg and thought nothing of it, but when I got home, I had three red marks on my right leg. The burning sensation occurred when Deanna picked up on a little Maidu Indian boy. Perhaps he didn't like me? Hmm.

HISTORY OF THE HOME:

The barn is a 100 years old and at one time on the 2nd floor a pentagram was drawn on the floor. During our first investigation, an investigator in training was severely attacked by an entity and went into convulsions and was sent home immediately. 3 investigators came across 4 shadow people crossing the trail. Wells Fargo Stagecoach made a stop on this property back in the 1800s. There is rumor that there is treasure buried on this property and the outlaw bandit Black Bart would frequent this area, he was a well known stagecoach robber. A previous owner of this property died in the barn and the Lost Girl of Loomis, there are rumors that she died on this property. She drowned in a pond and is buried somewhere on this property.

NOW TO SOMETHING ELSE, I JUST GOT THIS REPORT:

UFO REPORT

felixgarc0101

Witness Name: Felix Garcia

Location of Sighting: Yuba City, CA

Date of event: 04/18/2020

Time & Day of Event: Saturday 9:00pm-9:05pm

As I was driving north of highway 99. Toward Gridley CA I had just passed Live Oak CA. I was in the section of the highway between Live Oak and Gridley on the highway which had no source of light on the section the only available light source was the light from my headlights. I had looked to my left and I saw lights different from the ones on a common aircraft they consisted of red yellow and blue. This object that I could not identify flew at a low altitude. With closer examination the object appeared to be shaped like a diamond after further realization I had concluded the fact that this is possibly a UFO. The mysterious object moved slowly left to right which was west to east about 30 yards out and 5 to 10 feet off the ground. As I glanced to the right it continued east and faded into the distance. This is the best I can recall of this incident -Felix Garcia Sr.

Sacramento Paranormal Haunted Hotline: 916 203 7503

The paranormal hotline is my personal cell number, so yes, I receive many phone calls. Some of the calls I receive are prank calls. When I realize I am being pranked, I simply hang up on the caller and block their number. Other calls I receive are your mediocre type of hauntings and I basically give out information on how they can cleanse their home, if that is they live out of state. If they live in Northern California, I offer my services by bringing my team to their home to conduct an investigation and cleansing afterwards. Yesterday (4/22/2021) I received a very unusual call that caught my attention. The caller Terence McGill heard stories that 75 Bluff Road in Fort Lee, New Jersey was haunted. Terence brought 3 friends with him and they investigated outside of the mansion. Terence says that they are amateur ghost hunters and do not have any fancy equipment, all they have are their smart phones and one spirit box. I asked why 75 Bluff Road? Terence told me that it's a manor that was once occupied by Murder, Inc and the home of gangster Albert Anastasia. Hoping to make contact with the ghost of Albert Anastasia, they actually encountered another ghost. The ghost of gangster Joe Adonis.

Terence said that there was one female with them and as she was walking the grounds late at night at 75 Bluff Road, she heard the following: Pssss, pssss, come here dollface! She looked towards where the voice was coming from and saw a man with black wavy hair, a smile on his face, dark eyes and long coat. The woman that this happened to, does not want to be identified. I will call her Lady D. Lady D looked at the man and their eyes connected. The man then faded away into nothingness and Lady D passed out. Terrence and his other 2 friends ran to Lady D's rescue and revived her. Lady D explained what she had seen. After this encounter Lady D couldn't shake the feeling that she had some kind of attachment. I asked Terrance if he felt it was the ghost of crime boss Albert Anastasia? Terrence said "no". I asked him how can he be so sure?

Terrence said after they dropped Lady D at her home, they headed to his house. At Terrence's house they brought out a Ouija Board and asked who was the man that Lady D encountered. The name that they got on the Ouija Board was "Adonis". Terrence and his 2 friends were shocked. They immediately looked up Adonis and discovered that he was a gangster named Joe Adonis, real name Joseph Anthony Doto. At some point of time, Adonis was deported back to Italy, but when he died, he was brought back to the United States to be buried in Fort Lee, New Jersey. Joe Adonis family wanted Joe to be buried in the US. Terrence also said that one of his friends had a spirit box and it stopped at the song by Michael Jackson..."Smooth Criminal", which they felt was very odd, but fitted the occasion. Smooth Criminal by Michael Jackson can be heard here at this link:

www.youtube.com/watch?v=h_D3VFfhvs4

At this point of time, I was doing my own research on Joe Adonis and it really does look like Smooth Criminal would fit his bill. Joe Adonis had an ego the size of Texas, was always primping his thick black hair, always looking in a mirror, thought he was better looking than Rudolph Valentino the actor, loved the ladies and thought he could get away with anything. Of course, he also took the name Adonis.

Adonis in Greek mythology is the God of beauty. Joe with his ego and thinking he was smarter than the cops, would have thought he was a Smooth Criminal. At this point of time, I had to chuckle a bit and was blown away that the spirit box would stop at this song. I could only wonder how haunted this manor is and how many ghosts reside at this manor? Buddy Hackett the comedian actually lived at this manor also. Buddy Hackett had experiences with ghosts and his wife used to consult a psychic, so it would be fitting for Buddy Hackett to also haunt this manor. I have no reports of any kind of haunting done by Buddy Hackett's ghost.

Terence asked why would Joe Adonis continue to haunt the manor? My answer to Terence is that I feel after we pass on, we have the option of going into the light, or not going into the light. If we have unfinished business, we will continue to stay on Earth. Caligula the 3rd Roman Emperor was seen all over Rome after his death and there are stories that he still haunts a palace on Palatine Hill. Hitler's ghost has been seen in Germany, Paris France and even in England. Hitler when he was alive took a picture while in Paris, with the Eiffel Tower behind him and stayed briefly in England with his brother Alois. So, it would seem Hitler still haunts places that he visited when he was alive. Rolling Stone Magazine had a big article in regard to Jim Morrison's ghost being seen all over the place. My ex-wife Karen Jean Caruso Walker claimed that Jim Morrison came to her in a vision and explained to her on what life choices she should be making, when she told me that story, I scoffed and didn't believe her. Then one day, I pick up a Rolling Stone Magazine and found out other people made claim of encountering Jim Morrison's ghost. So for Joe Adonis to still be here, is believable. This Mediterranean styled home at 75 Bluff Road is probably extremely haunted.

I told Terence that if Lady D truly feels she has an attachment, to get a full submersion baptism and the attachment will immediately leave. On 4/28/2021, Lady D did just that and now says that she does not feel she has an attachment. Also, I told Terence that he and his friends need to get rid of the Ouija board and I told them how to do it properly. Terence assured me that they will indeed get rid of the Ouija board and never play with any other Ouija Board.

MY CELL PHONE DREAM

A while back, I had a cell phone dream. I dreamed that cell phones in the future would have the capability of contacting anyone on the street. Example. John Doe is walking down the sidewalk and spies a pretty girl 50 yards in front of him, walking on the opposite side of the street. John Doe is able to point his cell phone towards the pretty girl and his cell phone shoots a message to the pretty girl that reads: A man 50 yards from you to your right is trying to get in touch with you, his message: "Would you like to have coffee with me?" An avatar image is shown on the telephone and it moves about until you hear a soft beep, showing that you are facing the target (the man) who is trying to contact you on your phone. Of course, you have the option of not accepting the phone call.

MY SCANNING DREAM

Perhaps about 3 years ago, I had a dream that we had technology in which you can point a scanner gun on a book and scan the whole book, without opening the book. The scanning light would go through the whole book and obtain the full information of the book by one scan. A larger scanner from a drone, can scan a whole library with one scanner beam. Then later I found out a UFO was hovering over a library and scanned the library. Perhaps, just perhaps, that UFO was scanning every book in that library with its scanner beam. I thought I better record these unusual dreams.

My Days with CID

From 1973 to 1976, my first enlistment in the US Army, I was stationed at Merrill Barracks in Nurnberg, Germany. I worked as a M.P. (Military Policeman) for a while. One day a special agent for CID (Criminal Investigation Division) - D.S.T. (Drug Suppression Team) named McFarland introduced himself to me.

McFarland's code name was Big Mac. Big Mac liked my street wise smarts and the way I carried myself.

Big Mac asked if I would work undercover narcotics. The perks of this job is that I could grow my hair long, I could grow a beard, I could wear civilian clothes all the time and get paid going to nightclubs looking for drug dealers. Also, CID would pay for my hotels, meals and allow me to travel throughout Germany on various cases, all paid by the Government, taxpayer's money. At the time the drugs that were being passed on from German nationals to G.I.s were LSD; black opium hash; tripping green hash; blonde Lebanese hash; brown bombers (a barbiturate); quaaludes; cocaine. Another problem in 1974 Germany is that the Khaki Mafia existed. The Khaki Mafia originated in Vietnam and was controlled by a dirty sergeant major and possibly a dirty colonel. The Khaki Mafia was involved in drug dealing, drug running, prostitution and black marketing. I agreed to take on the position and my code name was Porkchops. There was a time that Porkchops became very well known in one area of Germany and I had to call myself "Lambchops". Another place in Germany, I was very well known and my nickname changed quickly from Porkchops to Frisco. One day I asked Special Agent White why I received the code name Porkchops and SA White yelled out...."you're a fuxxing Puerto Rican right? They eat porkchops!" I said..."no, I am not Puerto Rican, I am part Mexican though!"

Some of the cases that I was involved in are listed below. Also, listed below are some of the misadventures.

Vomit Girl

In one of my cases, I went after a drug dealer that was selling heroin. I usually made 3 buys to solidify a case. I was going for my 2nd buy with this drug dealer and his strung out on heroin girlfriend sat in a chair in front of me and shot up some heroin in her arms. Then she looked at me and said it was hot in the apartment and started ripping off her clothes. Before I knew it, she was completely naked in front of me, nodding out. Then all of a sudden she vomited on her breasts and stomach. I almost vomited. I made my purchase of the heroin and got out of there. I was happy when I made the 3rd purchase and busted this guy for selling heroin.

The Jumper

During one of my cases, I was walking the streets, taking down license plate numbers of patrons of a bar that was well known for distributing narcotics. While taking down a license plate number, I heard a loud splat. I ran to where the noise was and saw a large woman laying in the sidewalk with a huge amount of blood pouring from her head, she had jumped from a 4th floor hotel room.

The Fake Police Dog

On another case, we were watching a drug deal that was going down in a parking lot and 3 MPIs (Military Police Investigators) that were working with the DST team, were sitting in trees and watching the drug deal with binoculars. Then the deal went down and an MPI we called Tiny (well, he wasn't Tiny, he was a 300 lb man, that stood at 6'4") and he started barking like a dog and another MPI was yelling....CID!!! The drug dealers thought the barking was real police dogs and instantly surrendered. One drug dealer yelled...."please I don't want to be bit! Call your dogs off of me!" The CID special agents laughed and told the drug dealer, there are no dogs here, that was Tiny pretending he was a dog!

Infiltrating a Unit

Many times, I had to infiltrate a unit and I would always dread this, because I would have to shave off my beard, cut my hair and wear an Army outfit. CID would give me a fake MOS, like a Battalion clerk or something. I would get fake Article 15s for not cutting my hair and the First Sergeant would yell at me for not cutting my hair and another fake Article 15 was given to me. The Battalion Captain would know that I was working undercover. I would make 3 buys from soldiers dealing narcotics in the Battalion and when I busted a whole lot of soldiers, CID would select a day to call out everyone in formation and then have me call out last names of soldiers I busted. A line of CID officers would then handcuff the soldiers and place them in the paddy wagon. The soldiers I busted would be shocked that I was an undercover narcotics agent, because they said I was so "cool".

Some of the Cities in Germany that I worked with CID

Nuremberg; Furth in Wald; Bamberg; Crailsheim; Bremerhaven; Munich; Berlin; Hamburg; Cologne; Frankfurt; Stuttgart; Dusseldorf; Mannheim; Heidelberg; Furth. Of course, there was many other places I visited in Germany. I took a cruise down the Rhine River and saw the Lorelei. I went to the Dragonfest in Furth-in-Wald and walked the Volksmarches, visited the Black Forest. Took a boat ride around Lake Constance. What is unique about that boat ride is that you go around the lake and you are in Germany, then Switzerland, then Austria and back in Germany again. You hit the borders of 3 countries by cruising around the entirety of the lake. Saw the Alps and while walking up the Alps, my hat flew off my head and floated to a nearby mountain. Visited Garmisch - Partenkirchen.

Disco

While going to nightclubs in Germany and searching for drug dealers, disco was a big thing in Germany. I watched the disco dancers dance and before I knew it, I had all of the disco steps down. When I had a 3 year break from the Army, I became the disco king of Sacramento, Ca.

Red of Crailsheim

While working undercover in Crailsheim, I was to seek out Red. A gorgeous German girl with flaming red hair. I found her at a nightclub. I had a cover story, I pretended to know her deceased husband. She was intrigued and invited me to her table. After talking with her for a while, we left in her Mercedes Benz, she had 2 African men bodyguards and they sat in front of the car, while one drove. Red and I, were in the back seat and the song..."Drifting on a Memory by the Isley Brothers" was playing. Everything became so surreal. I became entranced with Red and when we arrived at her mansion, we became intimate. In the morning Red was gone and her two bodyguards went through my trenchcoat and found my CID ID card. They said I need to be more careful and that they were going to let me go this time. Red was a drug runner that brought in narcotics from Amsterdam to Crailsheim. Red had told me that she would have taken care of me and I could live in her mansion, before she knew I was a narc.

Our Nicknames & the CID Bust:

My nickname was Porkchops. Other special agents were nicknamed: Big Mac; Taco; Savage; Michael "Fuggi" Fuginetti; Doctor Love; Fast Eddy Isenberg. During some point of time, some of the CID agents became dirty cops. One of those dirty cops was Fast Eddy Isenberg. The dirty cops were involved with prostitution, black marketing and some drug running. I notified officials in Washington D.C. and they flew in two internal affairs special agents to investigate the allegations. Some of the special agents lost their positions. Isenberg became a war museum tour guide.

Handing over my .45

One of the biggest mistakes I made was when I was in the back seat of a vehicle driven by two German girls. Both girls were drug dealers. They had an ounce of heroin hidden in a bush and they told me that if I handed over my .45, they would show me the ounce of heroin and of course I would be paying for it. I took out the bullets of my .45 and handed it over, they showed me where the ounce of heroin was hidden. I was wired up and gave the code words..."this is beautiful!" Out of nowhere agents were everywhere and the girl with my gun pointed my empty out .45 at Isenberg and Isenberg almost shot her and I yelled, the pistol is empty! Isenberg was so pissed, he slammed me into the car and yelled at me..."I almost shot her...why did you give her your gun?" I told Isenberg..."if I didn't, she wasn't going to show me where the dope was!" Isenberg slammed me into the car again. Lesson learned: You never hand over your gun to the bad guy. I had to testify against the two girls at the place where they had the WWII Nuremberg Trials (Trials against the Nazis).

Red all Over

On one night, an undercover MPI had blood all over him. He got jumped, because his face was burned (known). His identity was known by the drug dealers and they beat him to a pulp. I was so mad that happened, I went to the nightclub where he got jumped and paced outside of the front door staring at everyone, holding my .45. I finally calmed down and walked away from the nightclub, before anything could go down.

The Hole

Many of us undercover MPs stayed in what was called The Hole. It was the basement of the CID building. After we worked on our undercover assignments, we would go into the hole and have a few drinks and talk about our adventures and mis-adventures. We would bring in girls into the Hole to party with. Also, the mess hall for MPs, MPIs and CIDs were open all night and we would always have late night breakfast.

Ursula Thiess the Actress

While working undercover at the Holiday Club in Nuremberg, I was doing a bit of disco dancing. My dancing was so good, Ursula Thiess the actress who was sitting in the nightclub was impressed with my dancing, she sent over her manager to invite me to her table. Ursula bought me a drink and her manager was trying to explain to me who she was and how important she was. I was young and didn't get it. Finally Ursula left with her manager and that was the end of a possible friendship.

Miss Black America 1974

Another celebrity I met was Miss Black America 1974. She came to visit a unit that I infiltrated. I took a picture with Miss Black America 1974 and afterwards I got busy buying drugs off various soldiers in that unit. Many times I would have to testify at Article 32s and court martials in regard to the drug dealers I purchased drugs from.

The Khaki Mafia Never Came

I made a deal with a Khaki Mafia soldier that turned C.I. (Confidential Informant), he became my C.I. He set up a big deal with some Khaki Mafia head honchos and there was CID agents lined up and down the street waiting for the Khaki mafia car to meet me and the C.I. in my undercover car. The Khaki Mafia head honchos never showed up and we waited all day for them. The location was Bamberg. Later that night, I went to the Hit Club in Nuremberg and we made a purchase from two patrons and the Hit Club lived up to its name. One of the drug dealers hit Fast Eddy Isenberg over the head with a wooden cane.

The Bump Performed at German Carnivals

While working undercover at German carnivals, there would be a ride in which they played loud disco music. A bunch of us undercover agents would start line dancing (doing the hustle) outside and German photographers would take our pictures. Then the girls came and we all started doing the bump and the photographers went crazy taking pictures of us.

Trip to Italy - Free Train Ride to Nuremberg

On a major drug deal, I went to Bologna, Italy with a sergeant major, he drove us to Bologna. At Bologna I went to the Dome (club) and met up with two air force soldiers and worked their connections. No busts were made, but had a fun time partying with them. At the Dome Club, all of the Italian women would dance together on the dance floor and all of the men would stand on the outside. If an Italian girl liked you, she would tell you to come down to the dance floor and dance with her. So I stood on the outside of the dance floor and an Italian girl summoned me to the dance floor. I had such a good time in Bologna, I spent all of my money in Bologna and spent every dime I had. I had to get back to Nuremberg, so I hid in the bathroom on the train. I heard the ticket man knock on the bathroom door several times. When we arrived in Nuremberg, the German police (Kripo) and my fellow MPs were waiting for me. One of the MPs yelled and said..."Porkchops, why didn't you pay for your train ticket?" I yelled back..."I ran out of money and needed to get back to Nuremberg, I didn't want to be AWOL!" The MPs had a good laugh. I eventually had to pay the ticket for that train. The German Kripo cited me.

The Quarter Sized Hole Girl

While investigating a case in Hamburg, I met a German girl that provided me with information on various drug dealers. I liked her and we became intimate. I noticed there was a good chunk size hole in her buttocks. I asked her how she got that hole. She told me she was kidnapped by some Middle Eastern men and brought to the middle east to become a prostitute/sex slave. They kept her drugged at all times, but one time she was sort of straight in the head and tried to escape. They caught her and cut the chunk of tissue from her buttocks to teach her a lesson. Her father a former Nazi hired some mercenaries and the mercenaries went to the Middle East and bargained with her captors and managed to bring her safely back to Germany.

Undercover as a Pimp.

One day S.A. White gave me a book, it was called Iceberg Slim. S.A. White told me to read it, because I was going undercover as a pimp in Munich. My target was a pimp that was selling bad heroin that may have been responsible in the deaths of 13 soldiers. The heroin he was selling was laced with strychnine. My outfit was a black fur coat, black velvet jacket underneath with white furry collar, black platforms, velvet black fedora, black gloves. I was to play the role as a pimp and I had 2 undercover MP females dressed in scantily clad clothing, mini skirts, etc. As an undercover cop posing as a pimp, I went to the nightclubs the pimp frequented. He noticed me and we began talking. Before I knew it, we instantly became friends. I did a performance with him, with my 2 undercover MPs posing as prostitutes, by chasing them around my black Mercedes Benz (unmarked vehicle) with a clothes hanger yelling..."I don't care if it is cold out there, you make me sum money, let me check your purse!" I dumped one of the girl's purses on the ground and then chased them around my vehicle again holding a clothes hanger. One of the undercover MP girls whispers..."we're going to kill you, when we get back to the CID office!" The drama I created was actually very comical and the pimp that I was targeting had a good laugh. I managed to make 3 buys of heroin from the pimp and CID and German Kripo took him down. He was given a life sentence. CID was so happy that I took this pimp down, that they allowed me to take a needed vacation. I went back home to California and a girl that I was corresponding with name Sharon Jansen invited me to her home. The only clothes I brought with me were the pimp clothes, that I thought was in fashion in California. When I ate dinner with Sharon and her parents, I was a strange sight to see and Sharon's parents couldn't stop staring at me. After dinner, Sharon sent me home and had nothing more to do with me, she was no longer infatuated with me and stopped writing me letters in Germany. I used the pimp clothes one more time, I wore the pimp clothes to the 4th Annual Hooker's Ball in San Francisco and a news agency filmed me dancing, they loved the outfit.

The drawing below is by Richard Vasseur. It depicts the Archer Brothers: Ulysses Solomon Archer aka US Archer and his brother Sterling Malory Archer aka Archer:

Cathy Orange meets me at a very unusual spot. She tells me to meet her at Safeway, she has a story for me, plus she has to get her grocery shopping done.

I follow Cathy Orange down the aisles, as she selects coffee, cheeses, variety of meats, bread, cucumbers, cereals and everything else that she can fit into her basket.

She tells me that she was waiting for the light rail at 9pm on 12th Street between D and E Streets in Sacramento. This is known as Akalai Flats/La Valentina.

While waiting, she was slapped in the face by an unknown force. She was startled from this experience. She tells me that this area of the light rail station is haunted. Now this is the 2nd time, I have heard a light rail station is haunted. The first haunting is at the Meadowview Station, in which I mention in a previous article and now this particular stop for the light rail. Cathy tells me she will never again wait for the light rail at this station. She will not even go there and wait during the daytime. Her friend Michelle Banta claims she was once pushed at the same area.

Shannon (a fellow investigator) and I checked out the area a couple of nights ago and we may have gotten a muffled EVP of a man, but it is too hard to determine as there are many faraway voices in the night that we may have picked up on. So our EVP evidence is inconclusive.

I placed my top researcher on the case. David Mace with 18 years of law enforcement under his belt and one of my best lead investigators discovered the following information:

Suspect #1 Most Likely the Slapper:

Man shot dead in Alkali Flat.

A 39-year-old man was found shot and killed early Sunday near the Alkali Flat light-rail train station on 12th Street between D and E streets in downtown Sacramento. Fredrick Karl Johnson was found shot in the chest about 2:30 a.m. Witnesses heard gunshots in the area, but no one saw the shooting, according to Sacramento police.

Suspect #2:

In the area, it is claimed that the spirit of a 12-year old girl haunts Miriam Gray's home. People have experienced unsettling dreams, soothing amber lights. Missing household items, objects skittering off tables. For 115 years, the sighs of May Woolsey have possessed this E Street Victorian like a pastel shadow, or a scented draft.

Suspect #3:

May H. Woolsey of Akalai Flats: b. 1866. d. 1879. May H. Woolsey died of encephalitis. Tour visitors have confirmed that her presence can still be felt, literally by placing ones hand near her grave stone. May Woolsey was a 12 year old girl who lived in Sacramento during the 1870's in the district known as Alkali Flat. Found in 1979 when a new owner was remodeling the house and came across a hatch cut into the second floor stair landing. The trunk had been placed in a cavity from a false ceiling in a closet below. When opened the trunk contained a fascinating chronicle of life in early Sacramento as seen through the childhood mementos of May Woolsey. Packed in the trunk were trinkets and playthings typical of most 12-year-old girls of the late 1870's. Residents of Akalai Flats at times feel her presence in the neighborhood.

Suspect #4: Virgie Hicks, 56, was fun loving, but tough on bail jumping felons. She was a colorful Sacramento bail agent and member of Vietnam Veterans Memorial Watch Association who was reared in Alkali Flat. Friends said the cause was complications stemming from diabetes and cancer. She was 56. A fun-loving woman, she was as warm and compassionate with friends and family members as she was tough with felons who skipped out on bail.

Suspect #5: Tony Delgado, decorated veteran who helped many. Tony Delgado lived a quiet life as a chef at various Sacramento hotels, but that quiet life touched many. He was a native of Mexico, who moved to Sacramento when he was 5, was father of nine, foster father to 37, an always ready volunteer and a decorated veteran of World War II and the Korean conflict. He died Sunday after a long, excruciating battle with cancer, said his wife, Charlotte. He was 70. When he returned to the United States after being shot down over Korea and being held as a prisoner of war, Delgado lived in the Alkali Flat neighborhood not far from where he grew up.

Suspect #6: Jennie Rios Baca, tireless advocate for Latino rights, she died at the age of 71. She died at her midtown home after a yearlong fight with vulvae cancer, said her daughter, Veronica Baca. For more than three decades, Mrs. Baca was a beloved volunteer who reached out to children in Alkali Flat and other Sacramento barrios.

David Mace came up with some other suspects, but my hunch is that the Slapper is actually the ghost of Frederick Karl Johnson. Why would the ghost of Frederick Karl Johnson slap Cathy Orange and push Michelle Banta? Perhaps he is trying to warn them that the area where they are waiting for the light rail is a dangerous area. This is the area in which he was killed. This particular stop is somewhat dangerous late at night and if the Slapper slapped me as a wake up call that this area is dangerous, I think I may just get the message.

We are still working on this case, if anything more develops, you the reader will know. But, remember if you are a tourist here in Sacramento and you do want to use our light rail system, then go ahead and enjoy. But, beware; if the sun is down and you are waiting for the light rail at Akalai Flats/La Valentina...you may just get slapped!

BELOW ARE SOME UPDATES AND INFO:

A Message from Next Door Neighbor Website Brian:

Brian who lives in Elk Grove, discovered a strange moving orb during the day, moving about strangely outside of his home. He caught the strange moving orb on his security camera. Brian says: "We get these sometimes, but never in the morning. We used to get them a lot at night around the same time, one time, we were in the house, and our tv in the living room came on by itself, we looked at the cameras and you can clearly see something floating around the tv, a few seconds later, the tv turned on, this happened 2x both time we see a floating ball around it. Another time, while we were out of time, maybe 5mins before we saw it, our dog started to freak out and bark continuously, then we heard the ring alert goes off, looked at the ring and saw the floating ball. I think I have a few videos saved. One that creeped us out was it looks as it flew into the house, a few minutes later it flew out and into another room that you can see in the camera."

The Demon Warrior's TV Show Recommendations:

The Story:

The Demon Warrior receives word that a Cosmic Dark Force is headed for Earth. The Cosmic Dark Force actually looks like a huge menacing black cloud, but it's an actual living entity. If it engulfs the Earth, the people of Earth will all lose their minds and the Earth will be in complete darkness. The Demon Warrior calls upon The Utopian. The Utopian faces the Cosmic Dark Force head on, while the Demon Warrior says some binding spells in Latin. Invincible comes out of nowhere and assists The Utopian. Art and Frank Shaver team up with The Hammer and Bingo and it's a battle royal in the skies above Earth. All of these superheroes use every super power that they command and with the right binding spell, the Cosmic Dark Force is bound tightly. The Demon Warrior can hold the binding for so long and all of the superheroes use their most powerful powers in a single united blast and the Cosmic Dark Force disintegrates into a multitude of atoms and is blasted into outer space. The Cosmic Dark Force is defeated and all of the superheroes either hug each other or shake hands and depart. The Demon Warrior now keeps up with their antics by watching their TV shows.

BLACK ROSE - MOTHER OF DRAGONS

The drawing above is the Black Rose - Mother of Dragons aka Deanna Jaxine Stinson aka Heartly Roberts. Art by the magnificent Thomas Ahearn. Black Rose has control of 3 fire breathing dragons. She can make a black rose thorny vine appear. She can make that vine capture a bad guy and constrict around his body. She can fly and she has incredible strength. Deanna is fascinated with dragons and you can see the REAL Black Rose at the pictures below.

Dragons have been around since the dawn of mankind. Do I believe in dragons? My answer....yes, I do. I think dragons can be a combination of things. Dragons are mentioned in stories from various countries and cultures. Some stories talk of dragons being serpentine, or snake like. Other dragons have wings and can breathe out fire. There are stories of heroes like Saint George who supposedly slayed a dragon. I always wondered if dragons could have been the last surviving dinosaurs living with man? There seems to be some truth to that. We will discuss that when we get to the Paluxy River. I also wonder if various sea serpents, lake monsters could have been mistaken for dragons, like the Loch Ness Monster or Ogopogo? Let's look at some candidates for the dragon.

THUNDERBIRD

The Thunderbird definitely falls into the realm of the paranormal. The Native American people consider the Thunderbird as a supernatural being. It is a symbol of power and strength. Some people say that if you see a Thunderbird, you will fall upon good fortune or you will fall upon bad luck. It depends if the Thunderbird is good or evil. In 1890, six gunslingers from Tombstone, Arizona went after the Tombstone Thunderbird. The Tombstone Thunderbird was seen near cattle in Tombstone. Thunderbirds were known to bring rain and storms. Some Thunderbirds were good, some were bad. They were good, when the rain was needed or bad when the rain came with destructive strong winds, floods, and fires caused by lightning. The bird was said to be so large, that several legends tell it picking up a horses, cows or buffalo with its talons. They were said to have bright and colorful feathers, with sharp teeth and claws. They were said to live in the clouds high above the tallest mountains. Thunderbirds were seen flying near and around Superstitious Mountains and Sedona. Superstitious Mountains and Sedona are known to be mystical places. Could the Thunderbirds have found a portal at these two locations and that is why so many are seen in Arizona? There have been many sightings of Thunderbirds. Could Thunderbirds also be misinterpreted as dragons?

THE PALUXY RIVER

The Paluxy River, also known as Paluxy Creek, is a river in the U.S. state of Texas. It is best known for numerous dinosaur footprints found in its bed near Glen Rose at the Dinosaur Valley State Park. The Paluxy River became famous for controversy in the early 1930s when locals found dinosaur and supposed human footprints in the same rock layer in the Glen Rose Formation, which were widely publicized as evidence against the geological time scale and in favor of young-Earth creationism. So is it possible that mankind was living with dinosaurs? When stories of dragons were told, could early man be talking about dinosaurs?

PTEROSAURS

Pterosaurs first appeared in the late Triassic Period and roamed the skies until the end of the Cretaceous Period (228 to 66 million years ago). Pterosaurs lived among the dinosaurs and became extinct around the same time, but they were not dinosaurs. Rather, Pterosaurs were flying reptiles. Pterosaurs would easily be interpreted as a flying dragon. There are sightings in modern times of Pterosaurs still existing in the jungles of South America and Africa. If Mokele-Mbembe (a giant brontosaurus) is seen in Africa, why not a Pterosaur?

ANCIENT ALIEN'S SPACESHIPS

I am a strong believer that we were visited by ancient aliens and that ancient aliens jump started mankind. I also, believe that early man who did not have the vocabulary to say "spaceship" could only describe what he saw by saying...a flying fire breathing dragon. A spaceship that flies and releases fire and smoke would shake up early man, he would be astonished at what he was seeing. The roaring sound of a spaceship would probably bring early man to his knees. This thundering spaceship that releases fire must be a fire breathing dragon!

DRACULA - SON OF THE DRAGON

Many nobles point towards their family tree and brag that they are the offspring of gods. Dracula was no exception. Dracula was known as Dracula, Dracuglia, or Drakula. Dracula signed his two letters as "Dragulya" or "Drakulya" in the late 1470s. His name had its origin in the sobriquet of his father, Vlad Dracul ("Vlad the Dragon" in medieval Romanian), who received it after he became a member of the Order of the Dragon. Dracula believed he had dragon blood flowing through him and that his royalty originated from the stars.

A DRAGON EXPERIENCER TELLS HIS STORY

Tyler Montgomery says that in 1978, he was in the open fields of Kansas and saw what he can only describe as a Pterosaur. Tyler said it had a 50 foot wing span. He thought at first it was an airplane or glider, but then saw it swoop down and pick up a lamb with its talons. The lamb was squirming around and the creature dropped the lamb at an altitude of a 100 feet and the lamb on impact instantly died. Then the creature swooped down and grabbed the lamb again and flew off. The creature was a dark brown in color. Tyler said the creature reminded him of a dragon, but was definitely a Pterosaur.

The first photo is a picture of a portal that opened up over Copperopolis, CA. Deanna Jaxine Stinson, a psychic medium felt there was something in the sky and snapped this photo on her smart phone and captured the portal in the sky. You could not see the portal with the naked eye. Copperopolis is in what is called The UFO Gold Country Triangle, according to Bill Birnes.

The second photo is of a UFO that was following a man in his boat. The man (who does not want to be identified) snapped a photo, showing the UFO following his boat along the Sacramento River. At some point of time, it hovered over his boat, then shot up straight in the sky. He was pretty freaked out.

Third photo is of a UFO in the treeline of Placerville. The photographer of this UFO does not want to be identified. The UFO stayed at tree top level for 2 minutes and shot away at incredible speed.

Hi everyone!

They say plagiarism is another form of flattery. I am the original person who wrote this article - The Ten Most Haunted Places in Sacramento, CA. This was originally on the website Haunted America Tours and the owner of the website was upset, because I share my articles with other websites. He wanted this article exclusively for his own website. Before I knew it, many people were taking this article and basically keeping the information I wrote and adding in a few things to make the article a slight bit different from the original. If you would like to see the original article that I wrote...then read on!

1. The Record Store on K Street Mall Briefing: An old woman in Victorian clothing appears to patrons and disappears. She is known to go up to a noisy patron and told him to keep the noise down. It is rumored she haunts the basement.

2. Old Sacramento Tunnels

Briefing: Old Sacramento was rebuilt over the original town. There are tunnels and a hidden town underneath, buried because of the rising waters of the Sacramento River.

3. California State Library

Briefing: It is rumored that some sections of the California State Library are haunted in what is called the California Section. In the California Section, there has been seen an old man with glasses looking over old books. It is also said that there is a tunnel that goes from the California State Library to the Capitol and those tunnels might be haunted.

4. Pocket Area Homes

Briefing: These new homes were built over a Portuguese cemetery. Residents have complained that they have seen spirits in their new homes.

5. Richard Trenton Chase aka The Vampire of Sacramento Victim's Homes

Briefing: Richard Trenton Chase also known as The Vampire of Sacramento committed some grisly murders in Sacramento. He was a serial killer that dabbled in drinking the blood of his victims and cannibalism. As a child he mutilated animals. It appears that at some of his victim's homes, there may be some residual hauntings, the reenactment of murder plays over and over again. (Special Note: Because of my article on Richard Trenton Chase's victims homes, I was contacted by a documentary crew for the British TV Show: Conversations with a Serial Killer, I was featured in this documentary.)

6. Paradise Beach

Briefing: A man is sometimes seen walking the beach, he seems depressed. It is said that this man was a drowning victim.

7. A House on Parkshore Circle - Greenhaven

Briefing: The people that lived in this house had a white rabbit. Joggers, dog walkers going past the house in Seymour Park see a white rabbit in the front lawn playing and as they watch, the white rabbit dissipates into thin air.

8. Sacramento River - Greenhaven Area - Gloria Drive

Briefing: Late at night as you walk down the embankment of the Sacramento River, you can see a campfire going. As you approach the campfire, the campfire disappears. It is rumored that a transient drowned in this area and the campfire you see is the campfire he would make on his cold nights camping along the river.

9. Freeway exit to San Francisco off W Street

Briefing: In the 70s a woman was hitchhiking off this exit and she was murdered. Her murder was never solved. Some people say that ever once in a while, they see a ghostly image of a woman hitchhiking in the same area at night.

10. A House in Antelope

Briefing: This 1998 house was built on a Japanese Internment Camp of WWII. The occupants of the house, an Asian family claim they see a woman without a head that scares their 6 children that reside in that house. They also see a ghostly figure of a man in white t-shirt and white shorts. There is piano music that plays that can be heard from a distance.

Haunted Belogradchik Fortress in Bulgaria

I received a nice email from Karen Jean Caruso - Walker. Karen being a world traveler has been on a nice cruise to the Caribbean, visiting many islands and has been to the Middle East and South Korea. Her fondest memory is visiting the Belogradchik Fortress in Bulgaria two years ago. Karen wondered off on her own and did her own exploring and came across 3 dark skinned men on horses. One of the horses was pure white, while the other two horses were brown. Karen says that the men were dressed in a colorful type of uniform that consisted of the colors red, white and gold. On one of the men, it appeared he had a gold plate on his chest. Karen says all 3 men wore red turbans on their head. Karen said that she could see that one of the men was brandishing a long sword with a very detailed handle. Karen watched the 3 men on horses as they prodded along. One of the men seemed to look at Karen and then faced the direction he was going. As Karen watched the 3 men on horses, they just faded away. Karen realized what she saw were ghosts. Karen rejoined her tour group and learned that at some point of time in history, the Ottoman Empire conquered Bulgaria and she may have seen Ottoman soldiers on horseback. Karen says that she did not mention to her group on what she saw, because it seemed to incredible of a story, but felt she had to now relate the story to someone. I thanked Karen on her correspondence and this is what I found on the Belogradchik Fortress.

SOME HISTORY:

This fortress was built during the time Bulgaria was part of the Roman Empire. The builders determined that the natural rock formations would serve as added protection. The rocks were 230 feet high and the builders only needed to place fortified walls on the northwest and south east sides. The fortress was used mainly for surveillance. It was also used as defense if necessary. In the 14th century Bulgarian Tsar Vidin Ivan Stratsimir extended the fortress. He set up a goal to build fortified garrisons in front of the existing rock formations. During Stratsimir's rule, the fortress became one of the best strongholds in the region. It was the 2nd best stronghold, the first being the capital fortress of Vidin, Baba Vida. This fortress was captured by the Ottomans in 1396. The fortress was last used in warfare during the Serbo-Bulgarian War of 1885.

OTHER PLACES IN BULGARIA THAT ARE HAUNTED

PARAMUN VILLAGE

This village is 70 kilometres west of the Bulgarian capital of Sofia. The village is practically abandoned. You see old houses with cracked walls, peeling paint and shattered windows. Population is less than 50 people. Villagers claim that they see their dead relatives and friends roaming around the village during twilight hours.

EASTERN ORTHODOX RILA MONASTERY

This monastery was founded in the 10th century. Ghostly monks have been seen roaming the grounds.

OLD NESSEBAR

Open shops, cobblestone roads. The old town walls and monuments from the Roman and Byzantine era can be seen. Old Nessebar has been around for 9000 years. An old hunchback lady carrying a basket of flowers is seen walking along the cobblestone road. When one of her flowers falls to the ground, she goes to pick it up and then she vanishes. She has the nickname Old Nessebar Hag.

TSAREVETS FORTRESS

This was the home of medieval tsars. Some tourists say that they can sometimes hear a wailing noise that sounds human. Other tourists have claimed they heard a woman screaming.

THRACIAN TOMB OF SVESHTARI

This tomb has been around since the 3rd Century BC. It is rumored that it was built for a royal couple from Thracian Tribe of the Getae. A few tourists have said that they were touched or that their hair was stroked by an unseen entity or entities.

ALEXANDER NEVSKY CATHEDRAL

Built around 1882 to 1912. This cathedral was built to honor the 200,000 Russian soldiers that died defending Bulgaria during the Russo-Turkish War. The Russian soldiers were fighting for Bulgaria's freedom. A tourist named Nikolay Georgier claims while visiting this Cathedral, he came upon a huge blinding light in the shape of an angel. The angel he saw was 15 feet tall and had what appeared to be wings. The angel appeared to him for about 3 minutes and flew quickly into the sky. The angel went from a human shape into a beam of light. Nikolav will never forget the Angel of Alexander Nevsky Cathedral.

ON AN UNRELATED NOTE (A DREAM I HAD):

I have to mention this. On May 20th after midnight, maybe around 2am or 3am, I had a vivid dream that I went to a Cher benefit concert and Cher invited me back stage to interview her. Cher told me that she is having skin issues, like the skin issues that Morgan Freeman has on his face, around his eyes. Those skin issues are call (DPN) dermatosis papulosa nigra. Cher then shows me the skin issues that are all over her body and tells me that she is going to see a plastic surgeon to remove them. After I see her skin issues, I wake up and tell my wife about my dream. Later in the day, we turn on the news and it is mentioned that Cher's birthday is May 20th. It is very odd that I would dream about Cher on her birthday and I had no inkling of an idea it was Cher's birthday. Side Note: I met Cher in 1979 at Harrah's Tahoe. Shook her hand and introduced myself. I was with Jeff Kutache's Dancing Machine at the time when I met Cher.

BELOW IS A BLAST FROM THE PAST:

It seems like now more than ever, people are drawn into ghost hunting groups. I have always had an interest in the paranormal and before I knew it, I was a full-fledged member of H.P.I. (Haunted and Paranormal Investigations) of Northern California. I joined this group, to record their investigations through my writings and to seek out the truth in regard to the afterlife. Is there really an afterlife? The belief in the afterlife has been around since the dawn of man. According to Tibetan Buddhism, the spirit of the departed goes through a process lasting forty-nine days, that is divided up into three stages called 'bardos'. When the bardo transition is completed, the person either enters nirvana or returns to earth for rebirth or reincarnation. All throughout the world and in all religions, there is some kind of belief in the afterlife. Cultures and people continents away believe in the afterlife? Why is this so? Why must we believe in the afterlife? With the Tibetan Buddhism religion, it is imperative that the dying person remain conscience as long as possible, because the thoughts one has while passing over into death, heavily influence the nature of the after-death experience and if they do not achieve nirvana, it will influence their next incarnation.

Let's hop a half a world away to the American Indian. The realm of the dead for the American Indian can be anything similar to their present day world. Many traditional Plains Indian societies imagine the afterlife as a rolling prairie, successfully hunting bison, living in tipis, feasting and dancing. Other Native American Indian societies sort of see the afterlife as a pale, gloomy realm. The Eskimos on the other hand have the primary concept that reincarnation occurs right after death. The aboriginal peoples of America are influenced with shamanism who have a great influence on their beliefs in life-after-death. These shamans at times guide souls of the dead to their home in the afterlife. At times the Shaman is the mediator between the living and the dead. Shamans believe in various type of spirits from animal spirits to forces of nature to spirits of the their own kind.

Now let's hop on down to Mexico. The Day of the Dead. What's the big fuss about? The original celebration can be traced to many Mesoamerican native traditions, such as the festivities held during the Aztec month of Miccailhuitontli, ritually presided by the "Lady of the Dead" (Mictecacihuatl), and dedicated to children and the dead. In the Aztec calendar, this ritual fell roughly at the end of the Gregorian month of July and the beginning of August, but in the postconquest era it was moved by Spanish priests so that it coincided with the Christian holiday of All Hallows Eve (in Spanish: "Día de Todos Santos.") This was a vain effort to transform the observance from something profane to a Christian celebration. The result is that Mexicans now celebrate the day of the dead during the first two days of November, rather than at the beginning of summer. Day of the Dead is characterized by the traditional Mexican blend of ancient aboriginal and introduced Christian features.

The holiday's activities consist of families welcoming their dead back into their homes and visiting the graves of their close kin.

There...I gave you three examples of people and cultures that believe in the afterlife and I am not going to delve into other cultures or this article will turn into a book. But, I will point out three other cultures who had a deep rooted belief in the afterlife. The Chinese, who believed that humans possessed two souls the Po and the Hun. Then there is the Japanese worship of Kami, which is the worshipping of gods, nature spirits and spiritual presences. Of course, how can I forget the Egyptians who believed that eternal life can be obtained through mummification.

Now I must ponder, how can all of these people and all of these cultures believe so strongly about the afterlife? Because we have a sense to preserve. If nothing is preserved, our history becomes obsolete, then what is the purpose of waking up in the morning and going to work? Why should we accomplish anything, because all will be forgotten and disappear into the abyss of nothingness.

We must feel like we have a purpose, we must have a sense of accomplishment and we must feel like we will be remembered for all time, for all infinity. We seek immortality. That immortality is through our spiritual essence. We know that energy cannot be destroyed, only altered. If the aura, the energy that surrounds our living bodies continues to exist, it will preserve what we are, who we are.

As I joined this ghost hunting group to seek out answers to the afterlife, you may ask...do I believe? My answer is that I am almost there, but I still want to see more proof. The proof that I have seen, some can be explained away. For example, the digital photographs of orbs. This can easily be explained as dust orbs. But, once in a West Sacramento residential haunting investigation, these dust orbs seemed to have intelligence. I asked the entity to have an orb move across my chest twice for a yes and once for a no. Looking at the TV monitor, I would ask a question and actually see an orb move across my chest either 2 times or once as if answering me.

Another investigation that took place in a Folsom cemetery, I asked through the audio digital recorder if there was anyone in my car and the answer, when played back was a distinct male voice that said "yes". Of course, I have heard other EVPs and I simply can't explain where these voices are coming from. At the same Folsom cemetery I asked the entity to touch me and in 5 seconds, I was bleeding from my knee and then a bruise appeared in the form of a thumb. I can explain this away as a spider bite, but how coincidental that a spider would bite me within 5 seconds after I asked to be touched.

I will continue to hunt ghosts, but I hope one day, I will see something with my naked eyes. There has got to be some truth to the afterlife. Why would so many people throughout the world believe in the afterlife? What brought these people from all walks of life to believe that we will materialize in a spiritual form after death? Why does our own bible tell us that we will live again after death, that we will be resurrected.

What we don't know is considered paranormal, what we know is considered science. The afterlife is something we don't understand, we have a hard time comprehending and therefore, it's simply pseudoscience or we can call it the paranormal. Perhaps while we are living, it's not meant for us to know, maybe we can only find the answers after we die.

Mankind has reached the 21st Century and we are more paranoid than ever. After 9/11 we were in tears, we were fearful of terrorist attacks, we were afraid of our own mortality. We turn on CNN News and hear about gang violence, young soldiers losing their lives in Iraq, tsunamis taking lives, hurricanes wracking devastation, SARS, AIDS, Bird flu, global warming. We are more scared than ever before. We think of the apocalypse. Some people think of the Mayan prediction of 2012. We think of our families, the preservation of life, the preservation of our history, our culture. We are so paranoid about the survival of mankind, that we embrace the thought of afterlife. More and more people are curious about our survival after death, because it seems that every day we face death. We hear it on the news, we drive down the freeway and see a horrendous car accident. Death is all around us. While death embraces mankind we seek out the light, we seek out immortality. It's a simple answer...."we want to live!" So, perhaps that is why there are so many ghost hunting groups cropping up all over the world. There are people from all walks of life, seeking the answer in regard to our immortal soul. Will we be remembered or will we be forgotten? I do believe we will be remembered, energy is a powerful force in the universe and the whole universe is 'energized'. Of course, that is my own opinion.

At times I almost feel like John Cusack in the movie 1408. He is a disbeliever of the afterlife and gravitates towards a very haunted hotel room, Room 1408 and at some point of time, Samuel L. Jackson says to him..."I told you not to go into Room 1408". Now, if I can find my own Room 1408....maybe someday that day will come.

THE W STREET ON RAMP HITCHHIKER:

When I lived at W Street and 15th Street in the 70s, I constantly heard about a small female ghost that would be hitchhiking on the on ramp off W Street/15th Street. The woman hitchhiking ghost has black hair. You would see her and then she would simply vanish. It is rumored that there was a woman that hitchhiked on the on ramp and she was picked up by a deranged man and murdered. I got a witness report, as seen below:

Dean Amant says:

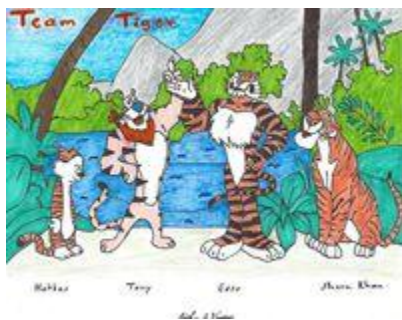

I have seen that woman. I lived on W and 15th street in that apartment complex for 15 years . Only saw her one time. She is short with dark hair. There was two other women murdered on W street. One on W & 14th street was shot in her car. The other one was on w & 10th, her body was dumped on the grass next to the freeway .

MYSTERIOUS CAPAY PHANTOM TIGER SEEN:

Team Tiger: Hobbes of Calvin and Hobbes; Tony the Tiger; Esso Tiger and Shere Khan from Rudyard Kipling's Jungle Book. Crossover drawing by Richard Vasseur. What does this have to do with Capay? Easy. On July 9, 1998, Cindy Logan from Woodland, Ca says that she saw a large phantom cat in Capay. The sun was just going down and they could make out a glimpse of a very large cat prowling the hills. Cindy's husband grabbed a pair of binoculars and said that he could see stripes on the big cat. If that is so, wouldn't it be a tiger? Cindy asked. Below is a blast from the past. Let's take a look at my investigation at Capay.

A preliminary investigation is to see if there is any substance to claims of paranormal activity that is said to be on property, business establishments or private residences. A claim has been made on property in Capay and at the private residence of Dr. Eugene Roger Apodoca, the uncle of paranormal investigator Chantal Apodoca. The date is July 5, 2009, Sunday. Roll call for this investigation are paranormal investigators: Shannon 'Ms. Macabre' McCabe - President of HPI; Paul Dale Roberts, HPI General Manager; Chantal Apodoca; Pika the Jack Russell Terrier; Rocket the Poodle and HPI (Pronounced Hi-Pee) the Corkie.

BLONDE HITCHHIKING GHOST

At the haunted Road Trip Restaurant and Bar in Capay, we are greeted by Dr. Eugene Roger Apodoca. One night in Cache Creek Casino/Club 88, a woman by the name of Rita Montoya told me that when she was at the Road Trip Restaurant and Bar, she saw a blonde haired woman standing late at night, about 3 am at the doorway of the restaurant and bar. She thought the woman looked distraught and circled back only to see the blonde hair woman dissipate in front of her eyes. She heard that the ghost may have been a woman that was killed while hitchhiking from this restaurant and bar.

Dr. Eugene Roger Apodoca has heard rumors that this restaurant and bar was haunted, but we were not here to investigate this establishment. We were here to investigate his property and his residence. Dr. Eugene Roger Apodoca drives an old styled hippie type of Volkswagen van. We went through a long dirt road to reach his property. His property is nestled alongside gorgeous hillsides, the Capay Valley and fields of tomato plants. There are also several abandoned vehicles throughout his property. When surveying these abandoned vehicles, you have the feel of a post-apocalyptic world, a world that Mad Max would feel comfortable in. It made exploring his property even more interesting.

Shannon and I allowed the dogs to conduct their own investigation of the property and there was a few times, that the dogs seemed excited in seeing something, but that something could be wild animals in the brush and thickets. While hiking towards the creek, a large snake slithered across the trail. On this farm, there are horses and goats. Dr. Apodoca tells us, that when paranormal activity occurs the horses and goats get edgy and agitated. Many times he has heard voices in various areas of the farm land. The voices sound like normal conversation, but the strange thing is, there is no one around to make these human voice sounds. The sounds of conversation come out of nowhere.

LAUGHING CAPAY DROWNING VICTIMS

Sometimes late at night, he has heard the sounds of children laughing and the story is that the children laughing are the children who supposing drowned in a creek nearby his farm. Later on in the day, we investigate the creek area where the children are said to have drowned. HPI Paranormal Investigator/Researcher David Mace discovered that there is a lot of paranormal activity in Capay. In a book titled Unnatural Phenomena by John Clark, on page 22 describes an encounter in 1891 with a hairy man beast in the Northern Capay Valley. Ghostly activity has been recorded at the Capay Cemetery and is documented in the book 'Ghosts Are Real' by Patty Zloczewski.

Other information that David Mace discovered are:

Capay, California Ghost Tales

www.ghostsofamerica.com/9/California_Capay_ghost_sightings.html

A review says: "You may think that Capay, California is precisely identical to any other settlement in the United States of America, but when the gloomy shadows of the nighttime enter the undeparted take over. A lot of ghost sightings have been conveyed by the people who live here. Folks who have never stayed for a few days in this town will inform you it's a pack of lies, but a lot of locals say that these ghost stories are true."

These are some of the spooky things that have happened here recently (not in my words, but the words of the authors - Paul).

HOLE IN THE CHEST GHOST

A gentleman with a sizeable hole through his upper body has been sighted exploring Brick Chimney Canyon during the dawn hours. It has been said that this strange entity is a long departed Capay resident, that fell victim to a tragic accident.

LADY RACCOON HEAD

A female's body with a raccoon's head is from time to time distinguished traveling on a bicycle on a shady highway near Capay. Nonetheless, it unquestionably is a menacing ghost that you wouldn't want to encounter around midnight.

CAPAY BEAST MAN

A man having the head of a beast has been said to have been observed on a small number of instances laundering a blood-covered scarf in Alder Spring before dawn. According to the people who live here, this phantom is the phantom of a vacationer that was killed while journeying through Capay a long time ago, floating down Brooks Creek. According to what the locals allege, this ghost is that of a local resident who had a house here in Capay.

STRAW HAT GHOST

The ghost of a planter wearing a straw hat was distinguished at midnight gazing over Cottonwood Flat. Additional folks nearby have had identical events with a quite similar ghost. Loads of people who live here claim this phantom likes scaring unwise folks who dare to upset the silence in Capay.

CAPAY SIGHTING OF UFO

So from the information that David dug up, it appears that Capay has a lot of paranormal activity. Bonnie Fee, who frequents Cache Creek Casino said that if you camp out late at night, you will hear the sounds of beating drums from the spirits of ancient Wintun Indians that settled this land a long time ago. Bonnie also said that in 1994, a cigar shaped UFO was seen hovering over Capay Valley for 10 minutes, before it simply vanished.

It was a great pleasure to interview Dr. Apodoca, who embraces his Comanche heritage and fills the air with a peaceful calm when he plays his wind flute. His niece Chantal also was interviewed by Shannon and I and she will never forget the night that she camped out on her uncle's property and her sister Monique took a picture of what looked like a full body apparition at the abandoned house on this land. Chantal seems to embrace her Indian heritage and perhaps her Indian ancestors were looking out for her, when she was a young girl on vacation in Oahu. While in Oahu, she was playing in the waves on a floating device, when finally a wave knocked her over. She found herself being sucked into a strong current underneath the ocean waves when miraculously she was saved by a large sea turtle. The sea turtle went underneath her and brought her back to the surface. As the turtle approached the safety of the shore, he went back into the sea, while Chantal found herself safe on land. Perhaps it was her animal spirit, the sea turtle that saved her life that day. Perhaps that is why Chantal and her uncle understand the spiritual embrace of the land and can coincide peacefully with the other side.

Before I close this article, Shannon did extensive EVP work and out of 14 tries, may have obtained two substantial EVPs that need further analysis! I heard the possible EVPs and it sounds like a woman trying to communicate with us. I will keep you posted on the results of our EVP analysis.

JUST IN:

Ruben Guerra submitted this photo to Halo Paranormal Investigations, he claims that there are 3 apparitions behind the car, I see one, a man with glasses. Ruben says when he took the photo, there was no people behind the vehicle. The photo was taken at his previous home in Antioch.

Can you see 3 apparitions?

A few years back, Deanna Jaxine Stinson, Psychic Medium felt there was something in the sky over Copperopolis. As I looked at the sky, I could not see anything with my eyes, nor could she, but she was sure there was something in the sky. Deanna picks up her smart phone camera and snaps a picture and she captures a portal in the sky, here is that photo:

On June 5, 2021 Saturday, Halo Paranormal Investigations is having a big UFO hunt in Gold Country. Why Gold Country? Bill Birnes, Phd and Ufologist extraordinaire claims the reason why UFOs are sighted so much in Gold Country is the fact that UFOs are attracted to the gold. In fact Bill Birnes (see: en.wikipedia.org/wiki/William_J._Birnes) calls this area from Mariposa county to Mount Shasta as the UFO Gold Country Triangle. Why would extraterrestrials be interested in gold? Answer: Gold can be used for computer components and they are a great conductor for electricity. Here is an article I wrote in regard to a UFO hunt we did a few years back:

www.ufocasebook.com/2014/strange-happenings-colfax-california.html#:~:text=UFOlogists%20suggest%20that%20UFOs%20are%20attracted%20to%204,other%20mineral%20deposits%20and%20an%20abundance%20of%20water.

Special Note: Deanna when she was a child was abducted by a UFO in Penryn, CA which is also in Gold Country. After her abduction is when she realized she has psychic abilities. Her abduction story can be seen here: paranormalhorror.com/2016/01/14/great-mysterious-eye-deanna-jaxine-stinson/

Anunnaki Came to Earth to Mine Gold:

According to the Sumerian clay tablets, an extraterrestrial race known as the Anunnaki came to Earth and set out to mine gold. When the Anunnaki workers complained about mining the gold, the leaders of the Anunnaki infused their DNA into the primates already living on Earth and created a slave race to mine the gold, that slave race is what we are now, homo sapiens.

And here is more on why UFOs are attracted to gold:

Below is a news release that I sent out:

THE PLACERVILLE UFO HUNT - NEWS RELEASE

Date to be there: June 5, 2021, Saturday. Time to be there: 7pm (1900 hours). Location: XXXXXXXX Placerville, CA. Bill Birnes - Ufologist extraordinaire referred Placerville and neighboring counties in Gold Country as the UFO Gold Country Triangle. UFOs are known to be interested in gold and perhaps the sightings at the UFO Gold Country Triangle might be the reason why. On June 5th, we will be observing the night skies all night long. Our guest at this event will be the Assistant State Director for Northern California MUFON Dev Rugne. We will have laser lights on hand, to try and receive an intelligent signal from a UFO if a UFO is sighted. HPI (Halo Paranormal Investigations) recently captured a portal in the sky picture over Copperopolis. UFOs have been sighted in Gold Country and now we will see if we can capture anything on June 5th. This is an all night event. For more information, you can call Paul Dale Roberts at 916 203 7503 or email Paul at: jazmaonline@gmail.com / Also, Fox 40 News will be checking out this event! This is an event to remember! History in the making! If you can bring flashlights/lasers for attempting to get an intelligent signal back from a UFO.

Special Note: Fox 40 was reassigned to an event in San Jose and will not be attending this event, but they do want a follow up on the event to see if we capture anything. My contacts at Fox 40 are: Barnett Parker and Claudia Cowan.

On May 6, 2021, a person who wishes to remain anonymous sent me a picture of a UFO that was sighted in Placerville. The UFO is hovering along the tree line, here is that photo:

HPI UFOLOGISTS ROLL CALL:

Deanna Jaxine Stinson - Psychic Medium - HPI Co-Owner; Paul Dale Roberts - HPI Co-Owner; Audra Straling and Stephen (we are observing the night skies from Audra & Stephen's front lawn in Placerville); Tammy Straling; Xandean Smith; Mike Ouilhon; Valerie Chenoweth & Greg; Rick Eddy; Heather Colburn; Sammy Wong - laser specialist; Dev Rugne - Assistant State Director for Northern California MUFON and Liz; Story - our Aushire (1/2 Australian Terrier - 1/2 Yorkshire Terrier); Hannah (our Pekingese); Sam Tourville.

WHAT WE OBSERVED:

On this night we observed fast moving satellites and slow moving satellites. We also witnessed shooting stars. The one significant sighting that we had was seen by 3 investigators, they were Sam Tourville; Audra Straling and Heather Colburn. What they saw was a bright ball of light that streaked through the night sky. It did not burn out like a meteor and the distance was incredibly long. If I were to look up in the sky and extend my hands as far as I can go on each side, that is the distance you would have in the sky. This strange ball of light covered the long distance within a half of a second. No plane can go that fast. It moved so quickly and disappeared behind the trees. Other odd sightings were seeing what appeared to be satellites, but they would power up, get brighter and then fade out. I personally saw a strange streak that was very bright and fade out completely. The strange sighting seen by the 3 above mentioned investigators was not captured on camera, it moved too fast. Xandean Smith did capture this video of a strange moving light in the sky:

Ghosts are everywhere. I will explain later in this article. Sometimes, when I am watching Ancient Aliens or Secrets of Skinwalker Ranch, this commercial pops up:

www.youtube.com/watch?v=ley7_N_mEx4 - Yes, it is a promotional commercial for California. They always show you the best of California and do not show you the thousands of homeless camps throughout the state. I take public transportation to work. I drive my car to the Franklin lightrail station which is about 8 minutes away from my house. I then ride the lightrail to Del Paso/Arden lightrail station and catch the bus 113 to my job. When taking public transportation, you meet all kinds of characters and many of those characters will sit right next to you and strike up a conversation. A lot of people that take public transportation are homeless. I am a social person, so if someone talks to me, I will respond. On one particular day, I heard 3 homeless people talk about how their homeless camp is haunted by Don "the Belly" Vanzant. When I overheard this conversation, I had to get right in the middle of their conversation. I asked...."who is Don "the Belly" Vanzant? This is where I will explain that ghosts are everywhere. Read on....

Luis, who does not want to be fully identified says that Don was a friend that stayed in the homeless camp with them. Don was a severe alcoholic and any spare change he would find, he would go out and buy some cheap wine like MD 20/20 known as Maddog or Thunderbird, Night Train Express and Boone's Farm. Yes, Don was known to be a wino. Don had a huge belly and that is where he got his nickname "the Belly". Don in 2018, died of alcohol poisoning. Luis now tells me that when they start a camp fire, Don will appear in the smoke. There has been times when Don was seen as a shadow on the tent and when Luis or someone else opened up the tent there was no one there. They have been touched by Don. Don was known to pat someone on the back hard, if he liked something they did, like if someone gave him some wine. Luis and another homeless camper named Sonny Logan said that on a few occasions Don the ghost has pat them hard on their back. I asked Luis if he wanted me to send Don to the light and Luis says he and his fellow homeless campers can deal with Don being around. Luis says he is Catholic and has access to holy water at a Catholic Church in downtown Sacramento, if things became too annoying with their dead friend, they will then send him to the light.

Luis also told me that many homeless camps are haunted, because homeless are constantly dying in the streets. Luis tells me that he has had homeless friends die of Methamphetamine overdoses, heart attacks, succumbing to the elements, untreated cancer, old age, alcohol and other drugs. Luis says that he had two homeless friends that were murdered by teenagers, that bashed their heads in with baseball bats. Luis says that many homeless people can tell me stories of hauntings at campsites. Luis says..."that the homeless wandered around aimlessly while alive and they wander around aimlessly in death." Luis is correct, I have actually received phone calls from the homeless that want Halo Paranormal Investigations to conduct a cleansing at their haunted campsite. I have done a few and at times I will provide them the information, so they can cleanse their own campsite. One campsite that I conducted a Roman Catholic cleansing was in downtown Sacramento. The homeless man named Eddy called me and said his friend died at the campsite from Covid-19 complications. Eddy said he called him a friend, but he was obnoxious when he was alive and he is still obnoxious while dead. Eddy says that his so called friend pulls his hair, sits on his chest while he is trying to sleep, etc. I helped Eddy out and conducted the Roman Catholic cleansing and Eddy hasn't had any problems since.

The statistics are high in regard to the deaths of the homeless. Here in Sacramento in 2018, 132 homeless people died on the streets. In 2019, 138 homeless died in the streets. Yes, ghosts are everywhere. Now to change the subject just slightly. While riding on the lightrail, I overheard a lightrail security guard say that the Florin Road lightrail station is haunted. The security guard has said that some people have been touched, the lights flicker, disembodied voices are heard. Why would the lightrail stations be haunted? Easy...lightrail vs. human. When a human is hit by a lightrail, they are killed instantly. There are deaths all the time at lightrail stations. A 70 year old man was killed by a lightrail at College Greens; there was a recent murder at the Florin Road station; 3 boys were horse playing by the lightrail and 2 of the boys pushed the 3rd boy into the oncoming lightrail, killing him instantly; 65 year old man hit by lightrail on Fruitridge lightrail station in 2017; in 2015 there were 5 lightrail vs. human fatalities, another citizen killed by lightrail at Folsom Blvd and Coloma Road. So, as you can see many of the lightrail stations have faced death and because of that, there are probably some very haunted lightrail stations. Here is an example of a haunted lightrail station, that I wrote a few years back called Slapper: The Phantom of Akalai Flats/La Valentina:

HOUSE TROLLS

Before I get into the Saturday's (6/19/2021) paranormal investigation, let me tell you about a phone call I received from Tony Alva. Tony says that he was fishing at Lake Winnebago, Wisconsin. Tony while fishing noticed an old abandoned cabin off in the woods. Tony was curious about this cabin and wanted to check it out after his fishing was over with. As he approached this run down cabin, he noticed small, what appeared to be humanoids running around in the cabin. Thinking his eyes were playing tricks on him, he told his kids to wait at the opposite hillside for him. Tony didn't want to take any chances, in case they were wild animals. Tony felt safe, since he was carrying a .45. When Tony got a clear view of the inside of the cabin, he saw 3 little troll creatures with hideous faces, long noses, snarly smiles and strange little outfits. Special Note: Tony did some researching and says that these creatures wore millstone collars and outfits that resembled something from the Renaissance period. Tony said he was frozen in place as he watched the trolls and couldn't even move to get his .45. As he watched the creatures, one of the creatures pulled out a knife and ran to the broken door entrance and screamed some garbled words at Tony. Tony then high tailed it out of there and ran over to his kids. They all took off towards their rented vehicle and got the heck out of there. I asked Tony what he thought those creatures were and Tony says that they are "house trolls", the only way he could describe them. He said they were 1 foot tall. This incident happened in June of 2002. I asked Tony why is he now reporting this incident on the paranormal hotline now? Tony says his kids were watching Box Trolls and it brought back memories of this incident. His kids did not see the trolls, but hearing their father talk about it, they thought it would be fun to watch Box Trolls. Tony said it wasn't fun for him to watch the movie, because he feels traumatized from the experience and has no desire of going back to Wisconsin. If anyone has ever experienced "house trolls", please contact me at (916) 203-7503, I want to hear your story. I am glad I received this call, because this is the 4th time I have heard about "house trolls". We once received a call from a house in Rocklin that complained about troll creatures and another house in Rocklin that was haunted by the Menehune, which are sort of like trolls, but they originate from Hawaii. There is something very strange happening in Rocklin. Now to the investigation.

THE INVESTIGATION IN ROCKLIN, CA

Date to be there: June 19, 2021 Saturday / Time to be there: 7pm. Contact Person: Susan. Case Number: 9B16H799K7667. Address: xxxx Greenbrae Road, Rocklin, CA - Ghost at 1:23am keeps setting off motion detector, they caught everything on video. When porch light came on, the activity stopped. Activity is strong. The occupants are: Jim Ball, Susan Ball and their son Brandon Ball. HPI Paranormal Investigators (Roll Call): Deanna Jaxine Stinson aka Wishfire- Psychic Medium - HPI Co-Owner; Paul Dale Roberts - HPI Co-Owner; Alaceo "Big Al" Rosatano and Michael Ouilhon. Equipment used: Kinect; digital recorders; cameras; video cameras; spirit box; sound enhancers; EMF Readers; temperature gauges.

THE INVESTIGATION:

Wishfire detected a presence in the kitchen area as soon as I walked into the house. I immediately attempted to get an EVP and I did get an EVP, it was a male voice saying "hello".

Wishfire detected a little boy in the house and come to find out, Susan Ball says that her neighbor's home is haunted by a little boy. So it appears that the little boy goes from one house to another. This house may have "house trolls", because Wishfire kept seeing little dark figures moving about in the bedroom. At one point of time, I thought I saw a little figure peeking behind the closet door. But was it my eyes playing tricks on me? Jim Ball caught an entity by the front door and you can see the videos on top of this article. The strange figure in the video almost looks like a sprite or a fairy. Very odd. This figure keeps appearing on his door bell video camera almost on a nightly basis. Wishfire detected a woman who was very sad in the bathroom and I captured an EVP that was a woman's voice saying..."I'm here". Wishfire when in the patio area saw a man and a woman sitting on the lounge chairs and Michael's kinnect showed a figure sitting on the chair, as soon as Wishfire detected the 2 entities. The Balls used to raise rabbits and Wishfire believes it's a rabbit spirit that is being captured at the door bell video. Wishfire detected a black rabbit moving across the floor and Susan Ball verified that they had a black rabbit named Bonnie that died and felt Wishfire saw Bonnie. Wishfire detected a lot of animal (rabbit) spirit energy at this home. There is a rock quarry near this home and a murder of a woman occurred at this rock quarry. Another note, is that a rock quarry is known to be haunted, because of the injuries and deaths that occurred at a rock quarry. There is a lot of residual and intelligent energy that can be found at a rock quarry.

CONCLUSION:

It was determined that this home is indeed haunted by ghosts and by possible elemental entities.

THE OTHER HOUSE TROLL IN ROCKLIN:

Going through my archives, I discovered an earlier investigation I conducted in Rocklin, that involved "trolls". Manny Rideout of Lincoln, who used to live in Rocklin said that he kept seeing black figures moving about in his house. He would be watching TV and he could see his kitchen from the living room. He would see with his peripheral vision a black humanoid figure moving from the hallway across the kitchen floor. He saw this many times over. One night, he held onto his hammer and when he saw the black figurine run across the kitchen floor he got up from the couch and chased the creature. When he approached the creature, it actually punched him in the stomach. The punch was so hard, Manny fell to the floor. Manny said that the creature had a long nose and a very ugly wrinkled face. Manny said the creature also was wearing some funny clothes and an odd shaped hat. Manny said it looked like a troll from a child's book. I blessed this home, but the haunting of the troll continued and Manny moved to Lincoln, Ca. I can only wonder if the nearby rock quarries have anything to do with the presence of trolls?

Below is a photo that Ruth Flores took of a UFO in Sacramento, Ca. June 2021. Ruth says that the object flew slowly sideways, then vanished.

Below is an article I wrote during my very first time going out to investigate paranormal activities. Boy, has things changed since then. This is a BLAST FROM THE PAST!

This is my first time experiencing a true paranormal investigation. Call us ghost hunters, ghost busters, ghost tracers, but to be more formal, we can be called paranormal investigators. The outfit is called H.P.I. (Haunted and Paranormal Investigations) of Northern California. The president is the lovely Shannon McCabe. Shannon is a unique individual that also is a vocalist and is involved with vocal lessons, recording, band management and bookings, event planning, floral design and has a website at www.SnMPProductionsCo.com or www.MySpace.com/SnMProductionsCo.

This talented woman also seeks the truth of hauntings and maintains a skeptical mind on all events that are witnessed by her outfit H.P.I. She seeks a scientific explanation, or when all scientific possibilities are eliminated, it leaves only one answer. The paranormal.

January 20, 2007, Saturday, I found myself arriving at The National Hotel, 2 Water Street, Jackson, CA. Roll Call for H.P.I. Investigators that don't mind having their names disclosed were: Shannon McCabe, President; Brian Colbert; Julie English; Paul Dale Roberts; Mary Casiano; Anne Temple (Spiritual/Psychic Reader); John Wachter; Jonathan Russell; Alicia; Michelle Paykel. There were 28 H.P.I. paranormal investigators and other names will be withheld for their privacy.

The National Hotel in Jackson, California dates back to the 1800s. Guests of the hotels have witnessed many paranormal events. The total number of entities in the hotel have been documented to a big 30.

When I arrived, there was a band playing and patrons gyrating on the dance floor to rock and roll and R&B. One of the songs, fit the mood for us: She Blinded Me With Science by Thomas Dolby. One of the buzzed patrons yelled out..."happy ghost hunting!" The HPI investigators were setting up video cameras in all locations of the floors of the hotel. The lap tops were turned on to analyze electronic voice phenomenon. In one recording you could distinctly hear a female voice say the word 'chill'.

I became familiar with a Gauss aka E.M.F. (electro magnetic field reader). Brian Colbert, another paranormal investigator briefed me on a Tempgun, which detects the influx of temperature. Very good in reading 'cold spots'. When the band and patrons left, the lights went out and the investigators had access to more rooms. In one room called The Bordello, I felt a thickness in the air. When leaving this room and returning perhaps an hour later, the thickness was gone. Armed with my digital camera, I took pictures of various areas of the hotel. The method is to take two pictures of each area, so there is no misinterpretation of the picture taken. The spirits must have been attracted to Julie English. She took many photos with her digital camera and picked up many 'orbs' in her photographs.

Demon Warrior

Julie English at 1:52am took a photograph of a bath towel in Room 55 and an orb appeared in the photo. She snapped another photo of the bed in Room 55 and another orb appeared. I snapped photos of the same areas and no orbs appeared on my photographs. One unsubstantiated claim was that intuitive Anne Temple claimed that a little girl made her presence known and followed John Wachter. During this incident an electronic magnetic field monitor device was used and witnessed by Michelle Paykel. The little ghostly spirit of the girl that followed John Wachter whispered 'Cindy'. Some of the patrons of the bar were curious on what H.P.I. was doing and one patron, name unknown claimed he was a psychic and claimed an angry man entity was walking up and down the hallway and that he was angry. This entity was mumbling gibberish and was completely incoherent. The psychic patron claimed this was a troubled spirit. Anne Temple followed up to say that he smoked a cigar and that he was yelling 'get out'. The patron psychic said he was 5' 10", average aged man with an ethnic background. Observing the patron psychic, I detected that he was somewhat intoxicated. There was a time he was glass eyed and standing up against the wall. Shannon McCabe asked him...'what's wrong?' He later told me that he receives headaches when there are too many ghosts around. One of the investigators asked him to leave, because we felt he was hindering on our investigations.

Shannon McCabe showed me around to various rooms. She is a seasoned investigator and as we sat in the dark, she would entice the spirit to show itself. While Shannon was trying to detect any Electronic Voice Phenomenon, any kind of noises that were being made, she would make the comment..."someone's footsteps are being heard" or "Paul coughing", so there is no confusion on what those noises are. Shannon enticed a spirit named "Jeffrey" and I snapped one photo over the bed area and captured 2 orbs on my camera. I snapped again, in the same direction of the orbs and there were no more orbs present in the 2nd photo. This was in Room 52 of the hotel. One of the lady workers of the hotel related all kinds of ghost stories to us. She told us how a crashed echoed throughout the hotel, sounding like broken glass or broken wood and when walking into the room where the sound came from, they found no broken glass or wood. She explained that rooms with many sightings, were rooms 61, 47 and 45. One room, a cowboy male ghost is seen and that this ghost once told a little girl with a video camera...'run bitch!' Shannon and about 4 other paranormal investigators sat in that room, trying to entice the cowboy ghost. We had no results in this room. I later sat in this room by myself and felt no presence. I even dared to sit in dark closets by myself and even investigated the attic and no results.

One unidentified woman paranormal investigator took a photo and got a misty white cloud on her digital photo. Michelle Paykel took a digital photo and a white blob appeared on the staircase digital photo. At 4:20am, more digital photos were taken in Room 60 and orbs appeared on the photographs. The final story for this evening occurred in Room 47, the infamous Bordello Room with its lavish provocative maroon decor and mirrors. I don't know if this was my imagination, but at one time, when entering the Bordello Room, I smelled musky perfume. Now this story is related to me by Mary Casiano, Jonathan Russell and Anne Temple, the Spiritual Reader of www.Bluepantherspirit.com/ They witnessed or experienced everything from a poke in the neck, whispering, hair pulling, tugging on hair, a touch or brushing of the face, hands feeling cold, hair pushed back. Jonathan Russell claims he was sitting on a chair and felt a pressure on his lap and even felt like he was being groped. I went into the Bordello Room by myself and sat in the same chair as Jonathan. I sat in there for a good 20 minutes and experienced nothing. The only thing I experienced in this room, was earlier in the evening, I felt a thickness in the air. Overall this was a fun learning experience and I hope our next investigation into a haunting will produce some exciting results. All digital photographs and Electronic Voice Phenomenon will be analyzed.
